I can't believe that they would try to block something that is so beneficial to travelers or people that make their living off travel (truck drivers, salespersons, etc). This is one way for them to get weather updates and traffic updates that would cause delays in their profession. This in itself could help save precious time for truck drivers by helping them avoid accidents that would cause delays!

I think that they should leave satellite radio alone. I personally have satellite radio and still listen to FM/AM stations. Satellite radio is a modern convenience for many people. In addition, those that pay for this service, pay for it because of the need to keep current on weather / traffic / news and/or just plain entertainment.
